

Method for manufacturing menthol

A b s t r a c t

The present invention relates to a method for manufacturing menthol by catalytic hydration of compounds having the carbon network of methane with at least one double bond and which are substituted in 3-position by oxygen and/or catalytic rearrangement of stereoisomers of the menthol in the presence of hydrogen and doped nickel catalysts.